Six short tales of the Adam Seville Studio, a small place in New York that holds private showings, by invitation only, of the latest work by the artist. Not satisfied with the typical materials used in the art world, Adam incorporates living men into his pieces. It's interactive, sensual work that makes the model wonder if they are a permanent part of the exhibit. Connor Jackson delivers himself to the studio for a project Adam titles "Silver Skin." That coloring is just temporary. Isn't it? Connor experiences bondage like nothing he ever has before for Adam's project called "Canvas." And once you're helpless, even something like breathing can be taken out of your hands... For "Statuary," Adam enlists Kip to literally be joined with Connor. Adam proves that when it comes to human statues, two is better than one. Connor is put into over-the-top bondage for "The Cube." This time though, he's not just kept on the studio floor. Adam takes him to his upstairs bedroom where things get a kinky start. For Adam's project "The Burrito," Kip and Connor are made one again with bondage and breath control that takes them to the edge of pleasure and fear. In the finale, Connor is now living with a listless Adam who seems to have lost his passion for art. Then Adam realizes what he needs is one last exhibit "Wired" - with himself as the model and Connor as the artist. Enjoy these gay adult tales of sex, bondage, art, peril play, encasement, breath control, and romance.

A patient escapes from an asylum to spend his life as the perfect mannequin in a department store display; when living alone is outlawed, a woman who resides quietly with her cat is assigned by bureaucrats to a role in an artificially created "family"; a luckless man transforms himself into a chair so people can, literally, sit on him. These are just a few of the inhabitants of Hon Lai-chu's stories, where surreal charac-ters struggle to carve out space for freedom and individuality in an absurd world. The Chinese version of The Kite Family won the New Writer's Novella first prize from Taiwan's Unitas Literary Association, was named one of 2008's Books of the Year by Taiwan's China Times, was selected as one of the Top 10 Chinese Novels Worldwide, and was awarded a Translation Grant from the US National Endowment for the Arts. "The Kite Family showcases the work of Hon Lai-chu, a wildly creative Hong Kong writer. The stories, elegantly translated by Andrea Lingenfelter, range from the torn-from-the-headlines dystopian anxieties of 'Notes on an Epidemic' to the more surrealistic 'Forrest Woods, Chair,' which takes themes from Kafka's Metamorphosis in an engagingly novel direction. The book benefits greatly from an introduction by Lingenfelter, which both explains her approach to rendering Hon's prose into English and shows how the author's stories fit into Hong Kong's fascinating and globally too-little-known literary landscape." —Jeffrey Wasserstrom, author of China in the 21st Century: What Everyone Needs to Know "Evocatively written and expertly translated, these Hong Kong stories will draw you into Hon Lai-chu's surreal and yet recognizable world." —Howard Goldblatt, translator of Nobel laureate Mo Yan

What if your lover asks you at the breakfast table to mummify him? That's what happens to Steve and Jason. Jason wants to be encased in plastic wrap and duct tape with no possibility of escape. He longs to be completely covered except for two small, yet strategically placed holes (one is for his nose). Steve jumps at the opportunity to wrap his lover. For the next hour, he traps and then torments Jason with increasingly longer forced breath holds. Where will it end? Will Jason get more than he bargained for? Find out in this gay tale of extreme bondage, breath control, and erotic release.

"Between Two Cultures, by Wen C. Fong, based on a selection of modern Chinese paintings from the Robert H. Ellsworth Collection in The Metropolitan Museum of Art, explores the crucial period from the 1860s to about 1980, when Chinese painting was transformed into a modern expression of its classical heritage. Unlike classical Chinese painting dating from before 1860, which has commanded in-depth study from a learned and sophisticated audience in the West, modern Chinese painting has been little explored. The first comprehensive assemblage in the West of paintings on this subject, the Robert H. Ellsworth Collection comprises works in the classical Chinese medium of ink on paper and in the traditional formats of scrolls, album leaves, and fans."--BOOK JACKET.Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America, Inc.
