Zahra's story shows the reader the ways that people's needs and expectations, as individuals as well as nations, affect the psyches of women and young people. Al-Shayk shows just how burdensome other people's desire for connection and identity can be. The symbolism she uses creates a rhythm throughout the novel which pushes her reader onward.

Zahra is the story of one young girl, who could be many young girls, but one girl nonetheless. Much of why Zahra turns out the way she does is because other people have projected so much onto her. People expect her to be perfect for her family, for her country, for her religion, for the men who want her.

(The Story of Zahra) Hanan al-Shaykh (Arabic, 1980) "There is an ancient tragic faith that strength flows from the very depths of abjection. Those who fall to the bottom of the system are in a sense free of it, and thus at liberty to build an alternative. If you can fall no further you can only move upwards, plucking new life from the jaws of ...
